Executive Transportation For The ~~Extremely~~ modestly Wealthy

Phoenix To Tucson In 37 Minutes

No matter where your business interests take you around our fair state, an Enstrom Helicopter can get you there faster, easier, and more safely than your car.

And here's the best part (at least for your accountant) - the operating cost of a turbo-charged Enstrom is about $47 an hour. About a third of an entry level Bell or Hughes.

And the acquisition cost of about $165,000 will save you a cool quarter of a million to boot.

Power, Comfort And Style

Lest you think the Enstrom's appeal is strictly in it's affordability, you may want to consider its 140 mph cruise speed, its turbo-charged power so important for hot weather operations, and its smooth and stable ride.

Not to mention its sleek, award-winning design.

HeliServices, Inc. uses the Enstrom on traffic watch for KTAR and ASU Football. We've also done filming and stunts for movies and TV - where stability and control are a must.

No matter what the job, Enstrom makes it easy, efficient, and loads of fun.

The Ultimate Business Tool

Let HeliServices put an Enstrom to work for your company. We have a number of attractive financing and lease programs. We even have a "Share The Ride" program where you can buy just the amount of time you need.

For hassle-free operations, HeliServices can take care of everything from hangar space to scheduling and maintenance.

So for going far, going fast, even going formal - go with Enstrom.

Picture yourself cruising the blue Aegean, gliding past history at every turn. Travel back in time to ancient Ephesus on the Turkish coast. Then pause at the island of Santorini, explore pristine beaches and secluded coves via your motor scooter. And when it's time for lunch, take yours in style at one of the many sidewalk cafés in the bustling Agora and sample delicacies just hours removed from the sea.
